AMERICAN SOLERA x FIELD RECORDINGS.

AMERICAN RECORDINGS.

It might seem like a מבטאטורב concept to put together a brewer from Oklahoma, a winemaker from California and grapes farmed in Oregon. But it also makes perfect sense.

After years of collaborating on all things fermentable, Chase and I decided to get serious. We wanted to have some focus, but also make things in a style we really believed in. After a long day tasting through barrel after barrel, we kept coming back to a single barrel of Oregon Pinot Noir. A perfect mix of youthful energy and Old World funk.

Grapes have been grown in Oregon for decades, but it's really expanded over the past 10 years — the world has discovered how special it is. Sometimes, you just need an outsider's perspective to make everything a little fresher. That is American Recordings.
